BASIL WOLVERTON'S

SPACE FUNNIES™

Soars With New Wolverton Art

Basil Wolverton's Spacehawk flies into action again in the pages of Archival Photography's Space Funnies comic beginning this September--and when he does, he'll do it behind an all-new Wolverton logo and, in the near future, new Wolverton covers. Basil Wolverton's son, Monte Wolverton, has already redesigned the logo for Basil Wolverton's Space Funnies, and according to Robert Brosch, publisher of Space Funnies, "We have commissioned Monte Wolverton to create new covers featuring Spacehawk and other characters for Space Funnies publications."

The first issue of Space Funnies should reach comic shops any week now; the second issue, due out in late October, will feature three more Spacehawk stories reprinted from Target Comics 8, 9, and 10, dating back to 1940 and 1941--the heyday of the Golden Age. And if you're impressed by the vivid color on Space Funnies #1, then wait until you see the second issue; Brosch says that he has upgraded the process from "Astro-Color" to "Super Astro-Color," and he adds that "the new effect is so stunning that the color intensity exceeds Space Funnies 1."

Each issue of Space Funnies features 32 pages of story and art printed on heavy 70-pound coated enamel stock, with 80-pound varnished stock covers, priced at $5.95.

Dinosaurs Come To Life This Fall

A couple of years ago, the name Mark Schultz was known only to those knowledgeable comics fans who had latched onto a relatively new comics series featuring his outstanding art done in a style reminiscent of Frazetta, Williamson, and Wood.

After this fall, it'll be hard for any comics fan not to know who Mark Schultz is--and it'll be even harder for a comics fan to resist his stylish work, since it'll be featured in a black and white comic, a color comic, two trade paperbacks, and even a candy bar!

Schultz's Xenozoic Tales, the story of adventurers in a time when all past ages coexist, continues this fall from Kitchen Sink. The series' audience is steadily growing, thanks to the solid scripting and the eye-catching artwork. There'll be a new factor boosting Xenozoic Tales' audience beginning in September, however: Marvel's Epic line will begin reprinting the first six issues of this title for enjoyment by a much larger audience. Even those fans who already have the originals will want to take a second look at this series, since it will present these stories in full process color for the first time ever!

Before: The original b&w art

After: As it appears in color

Cadillacs and Dinosaurs, the six-issue Marvel limited series, begins its monthly run in September. Each issue will feature full color prepared by the Kitchen Sink Studio under Mark Schultz's supervision. Schultz will also prepare new covers for each of the six issues. This doesn't mean that Xenozoic Tales is leaving Kitchen Sink; "We are licensing this to Marvel/Epic to take advantage of Marvel's marketing clout," Denis Kitchen said. "Obviously, many more readers will discover this great series in this exciting new format." Each Marvel/Epic issue will be priced at $2.50; the first issue is set for September 6th release.

Readers who are introduced to Schultz's work in the pages of Marvel's reprint series will meet the intrepid Jack Tenrec and Hannah Dundee, who live in a time when technology is an all-but-lost-art and mankind no longer rules the earth. In the Xenozoic Age, man exists alongside massive dinosaurs--and even such stalwarts as Jack and Hannah would be hard-pressed to claim man's superiority in such a world!

Shortly after the debut of the Marvel Comics reprint series, Kitchen Sink will issue a second black-and-white trade paperback collecting Xenozoic Tales 5-8 in one volume. Dinosaur Shaman, the follow-up to last year's Kitchen Sink trade paperback Cadillacs & Dinosaurs, will also include a new introduction by Jack "Jaxon" Jackson and a section devoted to Mark Schultz's convention sketches and pencil layouts for pages from Xenozoic Tales.

Dinosaur Shaman, an 8.5" x 11" edition presenting the art in black and white in a slightly larger size, will be available in two editions: a trade paperback priced at $14.95 and a deluxe limited edition signed hardcover for $29.95. The hardcover will feature an additional illustration not found in the trade paperback. Both editions are scheduled for October release.

Kitchen Sink's first trade paperback, Cadillacs & Dinosaurs, is still in print as well; this volume presents the first four issues of Xenozoic Tales as well as some new material.

Denis Kitchen also has plans to release a Cadillacs & Dinosaurs candy bar in the near future (a chocolate bar with almonds featuring a Mark-Schultz-illustrated wrapper); later, fans can look for a Cadillacs & Dinosaurs role-playing game, a Mark Schultz serigraph, and a Hannah Dundee porcelain figure.

ARM Elbows Its Way Onto Comic Shop Shelves In September

Larry Niven's Gil Hamilton stories are the sort of science fiction that seems tailor-made for comics treatment. Hamilton, the protagonist of the stories, is a special operative for A.R.M.--the elite global police force of the United Nations--which means that his life consists of one suspenseful adventure after another. That in itself would be enough to make A.R.M., the upcoming Adventure Comics limited series based on Gil Hamilton's exploits, an exciting read.

Gil has an ability that makes his stories even more of a comics "natural," however. "Gil does have one unique aid in his investigations," Adventure editor Chris Ulm said. "Due to a freak accident, he has acquired an imaginary 'arm,' a telekinetic limb capable of reaching through a spaceship's hull or a man's body with equal ease."

The first ARM three-issue limited series will adapt Larry Niven's novella "Death by Ecstacy." Bill Spangler will adapt the story to comics form, while Terry Tidwell will illustrate the series (assisted by Steve Stiles, who will add ink wash to the art).

"The first two issues are already complete and in-house," Adventure Comics editor-in-chief Chris Ulm said. "It's a fantastic adaptation; it definitely adds a new dimension to the original Gil the ARM novellas--Terry and Steve have captured the flavor of Larry Niven's work while adding their own unique stamp."

Gil Hamilton's specialty is locating and thwarting organleggers. In Larry Niven's vision of the future, new technologies and scientific advancements have lengthened the average lifespan. Transplants of any organ or limb are now possible--if you can find the "spare parts." And that's where organleggers--kidnappers who sell the highly valuable bodies of their victims on the black market (in pieces, of course)-- come in. Of course, in this vision of the future, organleggers aren't the only fear that citizens have to face...

"'The Jigsaw Man' was the first of the stories of the organ bank problem," Larry Niven said. "I reasoned that the easy transplants would make it possible for the Freeway Sniper to save more lives than he took. Every voter wants to live a little longer. It would become easy to justify the death penalty for atrocious crimes; then for all capital crimes; then for all theft, income tax evasion, or unpopular political stance. Governments never seem to know where to stop..."

The prevalence of transplants makes Hamilton's job a bit more difficult; after all, it's harder to locate a criminal who can use transplants to alter his appearance, his fingerprints, even his retinal prints..

ARM is set in Larry Niven's Known Space universe, a rich tapestry of a future that covers immense ranges of time and space. Dozens of Niven's short stories, novellas, and novels (including his Hugo and Nebula Award winning novel Ringworld) are set in this Known Space universe; a peripheral connection to the Star Trek universe was established in the 1970's when Larry Niven's Known Space species the kzinti appeared in the animated Star Trek series.

ARM, a three-issue miniseries, tells the story of a man who seems to have died from an overdose of pleasure via a device "hotwired" into his brain. Hamilton is brought in to investigate the case. Other of Larry Niven's original Gil the ARM novellas, including "The Defenseless Dead," "ARM," and "The Patchwork Girl" are planned for future release from Adventure Comics.

WOLVERINE FANS GET QUITE A HOLIDAY GIFT

Last year, Marvel gave Wolverine fans Wolverine's Jungle Adventure, featuring the art of Mike Mignola. How do you top that? How about a Wolverine story created by Alan Davis and Paul Neary, set in Canada, featuring Wolverine at his most feral? That's what Marvel's offering in Wolverine: Bloodlust, a 48-page bookshelf-format special scheduled for November 29th release. This special issue also gives Excalibur fans a small dose of Davis and Neary to tide 'em over until the duo assumes the creative honors on Excalibur beginning in January 1991. Wolverine: Bloodlust is priced at $4.95.

WHAT'S HE BEEN SO FAR–A HATCHLING?...

Tim Drake donned the Robin suit for the first time back in the Lonely Place of Dying storyline--but it seems that he didn't actually become the new Robin at that time. So when does he finally become the new Robin? In Batman 457, that's when; in that issue, which features Batman's frightening nemesis the Scarecrow, Tim Drake is finally recognized as the new Robin. Alan Grant, Norm Breyfogle, and Steve Mitchell are the creative team who usher him into the costumed hero club; the celebration takes place on October 25th.

PLANET OF THE APES FLASHBACK

Many of Adventure Comics' Planet of the Apes fans weren't reading comics when Marvel first adapted the hit film to comic book format; they can get a look at that adaptation this October, though, when Adventure reprints that adaptation in graphic novel format. The stories by Doug Moench, George Tuska, and Mike Esposito originally appeared in the pages of Marvel's Planet of the Apes magazine in the 1970's; Adventure's volume will feature 144 pages of story and art, along with a photo front cover and a back cover by Paul Daly. Planet of the Apes is priced at $9.95.

Planet Of The Apes Graphic Novel back cover by Paul Daly.

A HANDY BOOK FOR YOUR HANDBOOK

Marvel's Official Handbook of the Marvel Universe Master Edition #1, which CSN told you about a couple of months ago, is slated to debut on November 1st. When it appear in comic shops, it will be accompanied by the Marvel Universe Master Edition Binder, a high-quality black 3-ring binder imprinted with the Marvel Universe Master Edition logo and a starfield background.

Each binder will hold 300 Master Edition sheets--and if you do some quick calculations, that tells you that each binder is good for about a year's worth of Marvel Universe packets, since each packet will contain 24 sheets.

The binders will be priced at $7.95, and Marvel plans to offer 'em again on a periodic basis, so you won't have to buy mass quantities of them up front.

SHE'S A SEXY SIXTY...

Betty Boop may be sixty years old this year, but she's looking as good as she did the month she first appeared on the film scene; of course, that's one of the advantages to being a toon. After a several-year absence from comics, Betty Boop is back to celebrate six decades of existence; she's starring in a new 48-page full-color graphic novel set in the period that gave her birth.

Betty Boop's Big Break is a fun-filled romp through Depression-era Coney Island; the graphic novel captures the feel of the '30's--the era in which Betty Boop came into her own. In this story, Betty is hoping to take her boop-oop-a-doop to Broadway, and her boyfriend Bimbo has a plan to make her dream come true. A movie company is filming a series of Koko the Clown shorts on Coney Island, and Bimbo thinks this will give Betty her big film break.

The graphic novel is written by Joshua Quagmire, best known for his anthropomorphic good-girl, Cutey Bunny; it is illustrated by Milton Knight and Leslie Cabarga. The book is set for mid-September release; it carries a $5.95 pricetag.

VIZ CHECKS IN TO HOTEL HARBOUR VIEW

Viz has presented a variety of Japanese manga genres to its readers, including sf, fantasy, action-adventure, horror, humor, and suspense--but before Hotel Harbour View, Viz readers were never given a glimpse at Japanese hard-boiled detective fiction.

"If you thought you'd seen it all in this traditional genre, then prepare yourself for quite a shock," said Viz publisher Seiji Horibuchi. "This book is not for the timid..."

Hotel Harbour View by Sekikawa and Taiguchi features hard-hitting detective action in settings ranging from Hong Kong to Paris; the 96-page Spectrum Edition graphic novel contains two stories intended for mature readers.

Hotel Harbour View is the first release in the Spectrum Edition format; it will feature a distinctive vinyl slipcover and will carry a $9.95 pricetag. Look for it in October.

GORILLA MY DREAMS....

Remember all those great gorilla covers from DC in the 1950's and 1960's? One of the stars of several of those covers was the Flash villain Gorilla Grodd. We were beginning to think that Grodd was off visiting the Planet of the Apes--but he's on his way back to the DC Universe. Grodd returns in Flash 45, courtesy of William Messner-Loebs, Greg LaRocque, and Jose Marzan. In this issue, Grodd is masterminding a series of crimes by animals--crimes that will help him to build a conquering army to take over the human world. Look for Grodd's to conquer the comic racks on October 18th.

CALIBER'S SCHEDULE LOADED WITH NEW PROJECTS

Caliber Publisher Gary Reed has been so pleased with the positive response many of Caliber's books have received that the company is expanding its line further with a variety of new projects in the next six months. Upcoming Caliber projects include:

--Renfield, a fully-painted series from Vince Locke focusing on the character from Dracula.

--Song of the Cid, a full color series painted by Wayne Reid dealing with the Spanish hero El Cid.

--Verdict, the Rorschachian hero by Martin Powell and Dean Haspiel; Caliber will collect the early stories in a graphic novel, and they will follow that up with new Verdict stories beginning in Caliber Presents 16.

--The Rocky Horror Picture Show Role Playing Game and The RHPS Pin-Up Book; two special Rocky Horror projects offered as companion pieces to Caliber's comics adaptation of cult-favorite film.

--Triarch, a new series written by Mary Ann Bramstrup (creator of Dragonstar) and illustrated by Patrick Zircher; this ssf series is described as science fiction spy-psychodrama.

CSN will bring you further news on these projects as information is released.

MARVEL UNIVERSE IS READY TO IMPROVE YOUR UNIVERSE

This October, Marvel is offering a pair of publications that are a little bit out of the ordinary; rather than featuring Marvel heroes doing battle against super-villains, these books feature Spider-Man and Captain America doing battle against real-world problems: drug abuse and alliteracy.

Captain America Goes to War Against Drugs is a one-shot written by Peter David and illustrated by Sal Velluto and Keith Williams. This book, co-produced with the FBI, warns about the perils of drug abuse in a non-preachy way.

Adventures in Reading Starring the Amazing Spider-Man is written by Louise Simonson and illustrated by Jon Bogdanove and Hilary Barta. It deals with alliteracy in America. This isn't a book about illiteracy, mind you; while illiterates can't read, alliterates won't read. The purpose of this book is to promote reading among those who can but don't. Reading is Fundamental, the City of Baltimore, and the Literacy Volunteers of America all helped bring this book into existence; First Lady Barbara Bush has an endorsement letter featured in this comic.

Each of these comics will be available through your local comic shop; ask 'em about price. Both books are slated for early November release.

MAKE WAY FOR MICES ON INFINITE EARTHS!

It's been over a decade since George Perez did any artwork for Marvel Comics--and it's ironic that his first cover for Marvel is a spoof of one of his most famous covers for DC. Mighty Mouse #4 will be easy to spot on the stands; it has a stunning Perez cover making fun of his Death of Supergirl cover for Crisis on Infinite Earths 7. This issue pokes fun at the Crisis phenomenon in a story guest-starring Mighty Mousette and lotsa other characters, all facing off against the Anti-Minotaur and the Comics Continuity. Michael Gallagher, Ernie Colon, and Marie Severin are the creative team for the story; if you're a Crisis fan, you'll have to have it!

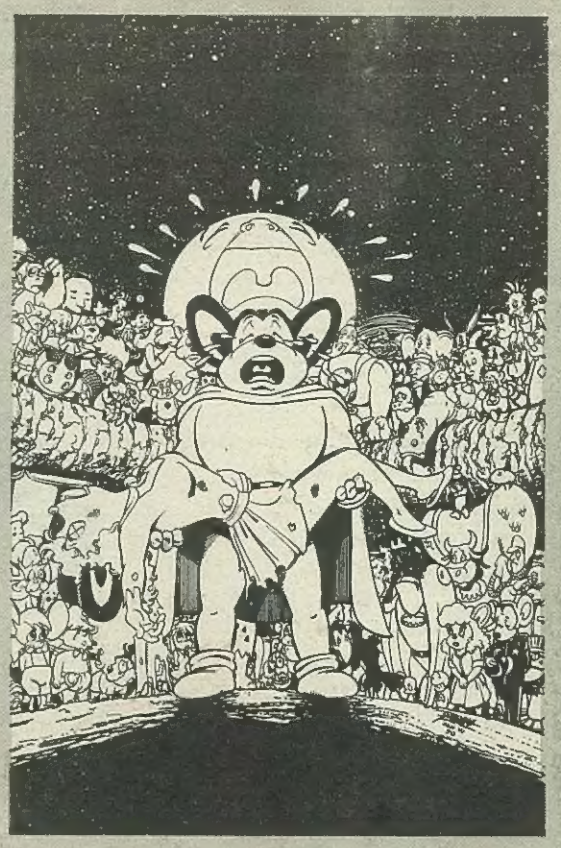
(Incidentally, this is far from the only Marvel work Perez is doing; CSN will bring you more info in the near future on the Starlin-Perez cosmic-hero series planned for early 1991 release--and how's that for a teaser?...)



HE'S OFF TO SEE THE LIZARD!

Lester Girls seems destined to be forever denied the quiet life he desires: not only is his ongoing title, The Trouble With Girls, a top-seller for Eternity Comics, but he's soon to star in a mini-series, Lester Girls: The Lizard's Trail, and work on the script for his first film is underway.

"The Trouble With Girls has long been one of our flagship titles," publisher Dave Olbrich said. "It's garnered us tremendous support from retailers and distributors and a vocal core of avid readers." The Lizard's Trail will give new readers a chance to find out just what Lester Girls' exploits are like. "It's also an opportunity for old readers to stop double-bagging their Spider-Mans and pick up the series again."

The miniseries will be written and illustrated by the Trouble With Girls creative team of Will Jacobs, Gerard Jones, Tim Hamilton, and Marvin Perry Mann. "Lester Girls: The Lizard's Trail marks a return to the broader, action-packed, high-adventure style that distinguished the early issues," said Jones.

"We're also going for some big laffs," Jacobs added. The miniseries will feature the Lizard Lady and the Lizard King, and it will also resolve the mystery of Lester's father. This miniseries, which will alternate with issues of The Trouble With Girls, will be followed by a second limited series, The Lizard Lady; this second limited series, illustrated by Darick Robertson and Marvin Perry Mann, will be adults-only. Gerard Jones also adds that "We've just delivered our first re-write of the script to 20th Century Fox and we've having fun debating over who should play Lester."

THE JUSTICE LEAGUE FACE A COLORFUL VILLAIN

Okay, our planet is pretty darn attractive--but is it necessarily color-coordinated? Of course not--but it may be when Mr. Nebula, Cosmic Designer, gets through with it. This invulnerable, omnipotent being has decided to redecorate our planet--and it looks like the only beings who stand in his way are the Justice League, G'nort, and the Scarlet Skier!

So just who is this Mr. Nebula, you may be wondering? You'll find out in Justice League Quarterly #2, on sale November 1st; this 80-page comic will not only present his confrontation with the Justice League, but it will also feature the origin of this arbiter of galactic taste. Keith Giffen, J.M. DeMatteis, and Tom Artis make it possible, for only $2.95, for you to gain fashion sense!

WHAT A FANTASTIC FOUR!

Fantastic Four 347 begins a three-part story that certainly features a Fantastic Four--but we're not talking about Reed, Sue, Johnny, and Ben here. No, we're talking Spider-Man, Ghost Rider, Wolverine, and The Hulk! As if that quartet isn't enough to have everyone clamoring for a copy of these three FF issues, what if we throw in a Fantastic Fifth--the Punisher! Do you need another reason to add these books to your must-have list? Well, how about Arthur Adams, who'll be handling the art honors for all three issues, joining writer Walt Simonson to present an all-star storyline that also guest-stars a bunch of monsters from Marvel's pre-hero days. (Walt's had an affinity for those monsters for a while now; you can see how he illustrated 'em on the cover of Marvel Monsterworks...) Look for the fun to begin on November 1st!

BATS FOR HALLOWEEN

Who's Who #5 is scheduled for release just one day after Halloween--and since Halloween is traditionally linked with bats, it seems only fitting that this volume of the deluxe Who's Who series should spotlight Batman. This set of 24 looseleaf sheets will also feature the Penguin by Jim Aparo, Poison Ivy by Kevin Maguire, and the Riddler by Kieron Dwyer and Dennis Janke. Norm Breyfogle, artist of Batman, will contribute a Batmobile cover to the set. Who's Who #5 will carry a $4.95 pricetag.

SEPTEMBER

The following comics are scheduled for release on the dates given; unfortunately, it is not uncommon for comics to be rescheduled or delayed due to various circumstances. As a result, the dates given are only tentative dates, and are subject to change. Also, different parts of the country will receive different books at different times; depending on where your local comics shop is located in relation to the publisher's printing site, your shop may receive these books later--or earlier--than the given date. If you have questions about delayed books, talk to the friendly people at your local comics shop; when CSN is notified in time, we will make changes in our checklist

BATMAN™ by Loebs, Infantino & Nyberg

THE UNVEILING...
8-27-90
WHAT IS IT? WHAT DO I LOOK LIKE? GET ME A MIRROR!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
MY GOD, ALFRED. HIS FACE...
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
8-28-90
WE ALWAYS SAY... "BEAUTY IS ONLY SKIN DEEP... IT'S NOT SO BAD... YOU'LL GET OVER IT..."
BUT, MY GOD, ALFRED... HIS FACE...!
HI, BRUCE. HAVE SOME REALLY TERRIBLE COFFEE?
CROSS
BLOOD BAN
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
NO, THANKS. HOW IS HARVEY TAKING IT, ALICE?
"IT," BRUCE?
8-29-90
HOW IS HE TAKING HIS FACE BEING TURNED INTO A HORROR MASK?
NOT WELL, BRUCE. HE'S NOT TAKING IT WELL!
ALICE, I DIDN'T MEAN...
OH, BRUCE. DON'T MIND ME ... I'M HYSTERICAL.
RED CROSS
BLOOD BANK
8-30-90
RED CROS
I KNOW YOU'RE TRYING TO BE SYMPATHETIC, BUT...
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
BUT SO MANY TERRIBLE THINGS HAVE HAPPENED TO HARVEY, AND YOUR LIFE HAS BEEN SO EASY.
YOU SEE? ALL HE DOES IS STARE INTO THAT MIRROR.
AN OPERATION?
8-31-90
THE DOCTORS SAY IT'LL BE MONTHS BEFORE THEY CAN EVEN TRY!
UNTIL THEN ...SOB...
IT'LL BE ALL RIGHT, ALICE.
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
YOU KNOW, ALICE, MY LIFE HASN'T BEEN THAT SHELTERED.
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
9-1-90
MY PARENTS... DIED WHEN I WAS QUITE YOUNG, SO I REALLY DO UNDERSTAND...
I KNOW, BRUCE.
ROOMS 110-130
THIS WHOLE THING HAS BEEN SO CRAZY... I GUESS IT'S CATCHING.

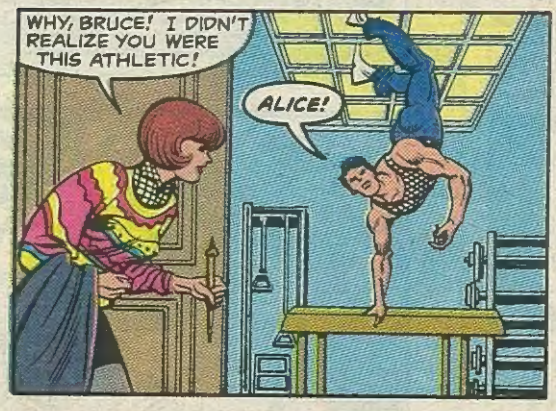
BOB KANE
BATMAN
BY LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG



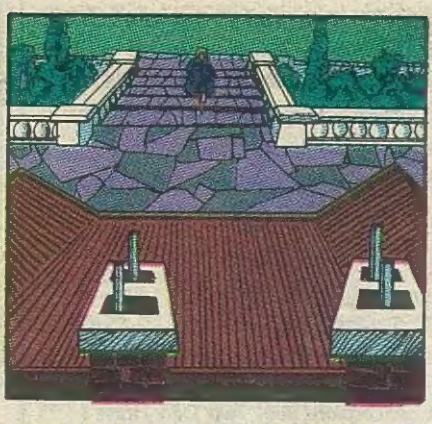
WHY, BRUCE! I DIDN'T REALIZE YOU WERE THIS ATHLETIC!
ALICE!

I'M NOT REALLY. ALFRED INSISTS I KEEP UP THIS SILLY COLLEGE STUFF! I'D LOVE AN EXCUSE TO PLAY HOOKY.

ARE YOU REALLY OKAY, HARVEY?
I'M FEELING GOOD TODAY, BRUCE. VERY, VERY GOOD.

I'LL COME BACK FROM THIS THING. AFTER ALL, IT'S NOT LIKE MY FACE WAS MY FORTUNE! HA!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG

8-26-90



"SAY NO MORE! I'M YOURS FOR THE AFTERNOON!"
YOU SHOULD ALL UNDERSTAND THAT THE SCARRING HAS BEEN EXTENSIVE ON THE LEFT SIDE...
YOU'VE SAID THAT BEFORE, DOC.
